KRISTEN MASENGARB NAMED PRESIDENT AND JAMIE BURGESS NAMED PRESIDENT-ELECT OF THE JUNIOR LEAGUE OF LANCASTER, PA

[LANCASTER, PA] – [October 7, 2008] – Local resident, Kristen Masengarb, has been named President of the Junior League of Lancaster. Masengarb has been an active volunteer in the Lancaster community for many years, and she epitomizes the Mission of the Junior League of Lancaster, which is promoting volunteerism, developing the potential of women and improving the community through effective action and leadership.

“I am very excited and honored to be serving as the President in the Junior League of Lancaster. For 85 years the Junior League of Lancaster has worked to improve the lives of women, children and families in Lancaster County. I am committed to ensuring that the organization continues to thrive and provide project and services to the community,” Masengarb states.

Since joining in 1999, Masengarb has served as Fund Development Vice President, Membership Development Chairman, and Fundraiser Chair for the Junior League of Lancaster. Masengarb received a BS in Marketing from Penn State University, and she is active on the Lancaster Day Care Center Board and the Four Diamonds Fund Advisory Board.

The President of the Junior League of Lancaster is the chief executive officer of the league and bears ultimate responsibility for operation, achievement and morale of the League.

Local resident, Jamie Burgess, has been named President-Elect of the Junior League of Lancaster. Burgess has been active in the league since 2001 with her roles as House Program Chair, Membership Development Chair and a member of Fund Development Committee. Burgess received a BA from University of Michigan and is employed at Armstrong World Industries as Marketing Specialist.

The following Junior League of Lancaster members will also be serving on the executive branch: Claire Kingston, Treasurer; Anita Hanna, Vice President of External Council; Christine Westbrook, Vice President of Internal Council; Ronda Miller, Recording Secretary; Allison Henneman, Parliamentarian; Eileen Dvorchak, Placement; and Katie Pearson, Placement.

The Junior League of Lancaster will continue to focus on childhood obesity and childhood conflict-resolution strategies through projects such as Kids in the Kitchen and Hands Are Not for Hitting.
